

LOWER MANHATTAN DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

IN COOPERATION WITH THE STATE OF NEW YORK AND THE CITY OF NEW YORK

PARTIAL ACTION PLAN

The Lower Manhattan Development Corporation (LMDC) has prepared the following Partial Action Plan with respect to the $2 billion federal appropriation to LMDC through the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). This plan details the proposed expenditure of $306 million for the following items:

1. Residential Grant Program totaling up to $280.5 million.
2. Employment Training Assistance Program totaling up to $10 million.
3. Design and installation of the interim memorial for victims of the September 11th World Trade Center tragedy and the 1993 World Trade Center bombing totaling up to $350,000.
4. Planning, administration, and overhead costs totaling up to $15.1 million.

Any change greater than 5% in the funding committed to a particular activity (a.k.a. program) identified in this Partial Action Plan, the addition or deletion of any activity, or change in the planned beneficiaries of an activity will constitute a substantial amendment and such amendment will be made available for public comment and approval by HUD.

Future partial action plans will detail the projected expenditure of the remainder of funds available from the $2 billion appropriation and will be subject to a public comment period with later submission to HUD.

Action Plan Categories	Allocation from $2 billion
Residential Grant Program	$280,500,000
Employment Training Assistance Program	$10,000,000
Design and Installation of Interim Memorial	$350,000
Administration and Planning	$15,042,500
Total	$305,892,500

National Objective

The activities contained in this Partial Action Plan have been designed to meet the needs of individuals affected by the September 11, 2001 World Trade Center disaster, as well as community and development needs. These activities have particular urgency because LMDC has determined that existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of the City of New York and the individual residents of the City and other financial resources are not available to meet such needs. The geographic areas that will be the focus of this and future partial action plans are located in Manhattan, below Houston Street, with particular urgency related to the areas in and around the former World Trade Center.

Public Notice and Comment

The Draft Assistance Plan for Individuals, which included the initial criteria for both the residential grant and job training components of this proposed Partial Action Plan, was made available to the public for a 20-day comment period starting on February 21, 2002. The Draft Assistance Plan was translated into Chinese and Spanish. LMDC placed advertisements inviting public comment on the draft plan in all major New York City English, Spanish, and Chinese-language daily newspapers and weekly community newspapers serving lower Manhattan. In addition, the text of the draft plan was made available on LMDC's web site (www.renewnyc.com), the Empire State Development Corporation's (ESDC) web site (www.nylovesbiz.com), and other web sites. Written comments were accepted via mail, e-mail, and in person. Over 1,100 individual comments were received along with more than 20 comments submitted by organizations and public officials. The overwhelming majority of comments received were related to the initial criteria for the Residential Grant Program.

Based on a thorough review of the comments by a committee of the LMDC Board of Directors, the full Board adopted a draft Partial Action Plan on April 9, 2002, which incorporated the Draft Assistance Plan for Individuals, as amended. The draft Partial Action Plan was once again made available for public review and comment from April 9 through April 23, 2002. Notices of the draft Partial Action Plan, inviting public comment, were placed in all the major New York City English, Spanish, and Chinese-language daily newspapers. In addition, the draft Partial Action Plan was made available at LMDC's and ESDC's web sites and at other web sites as well as LMDC's offices and other locations. LMDC received approximately 215 comments from individuals along with additional comments from a small number of public officials and organizations. Once again, written comments were accepted via mail, e-mail, and in person. Nearly all comments received pertained exclusively to the Residential Grant Program.

The responses to comments received during the respective comment periods have been incorporated into this proposed Partial Action Plan and are reviewed in section V below.

PARTIAL ACTION PLAN

This Proposed Partial Action Plan acknowledges the extensive and unprecedented physical, economic, and emotional damage to the areas in close proximity to the former World Trade Center and offers several forms of assistance to individuals affected by the September 11th disaster.

First, the Plan proposes a Residential Grant Program (formerly known as the Housing Assistance Program) that recognizes the extended hardship, extraordinary financial expenses, and quality-of-life disruption suffered by individual residents of lower Manhattan since September 11th. The Residential Grant Program seeks to compensate individuals for the extraordinary expenses they may have incurred as a result of the disaster, as well as creates incentives for individuals and families to rent, purchase, or remain in housing in lower Manhattan, which continues to be a national disaster area. Second, the plan proposes an Employment Training Assistance Program that provides job training assistance to affected individuals to help prepare them for employment at companies in lower Manhattan. Third, the plan proposes expenditures related to an interim memorial derived from a damaged work of art retrieved from the disaster site that serves to provide comfort and common commemorative ground for the victims and survivors of the attacks on the World Trade Center on September 11th and in 1993. Lastly, the plan proposes expenditures related to the planning, coordination, and administration of disaster recovery and remembrance efforts as well as rebuilding, redevelopment, and revitalization efforts in lower Manhattan.

The Plan seeks federal funding from HUD and acknowledges that an array of government and private sector programs were established to provide assistance to individuals. It does not attempt to provide assistance for needs that are already being met through such sources. Instead, it focuses on those forms of residential and job-training assistance that are not currently available.

Other Assistance Programs

For information on existing individual aid programs, please contact the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) at 1-800-462-9029 (TTY for the speech- or hearing-impaired: 1-800-462-7585). FEMA's web site, www.fema.gov, offers information on assistance available. Programs for individuals impacted by the September 11th tragedy include:

Government Programs

Victim Compensation Fund. The fund provides economic compensation to families and dependents of victims of the September 11th tragedy in lieu of pursuing a civil case for damages. The program is intended to provide victims' families with compensation equal to the likely lifetime earnings of the victim and for pain and suffering without the delay normally encountered in seeking damages through the judicial system. Payments from collateral sources, such as insurance and pensions, are deducted from the calculated amount before distribution to the claimant.

Housing Assistance. FEMA's Disaster Housing Program makes funds and services available to individuals whose homes are uninhabitable because of a disaster. Funding has been provided to affected households for alternate rental housing and to clean residences.

Low-Interest Loans. The Small Business Administration (SBA) offers low interest loans to eligible individuals to repair or replace damaged property and personal belongings not covered by insurance.

Cash grants. A maximum grant of $14,800 (adjusted annually for inflation) is available under the state-administered Individual and Family Grant program. Individuals who do not qualify for a loan from the SBA may be eligible for these grants from the state to recover unmet necessary expenses and serious needs, including medical, dental, and funeral expenses that are incurred as a result of the disaster. FEMA funds 75% of the grant program's eligible costs with the remaining 25% of the program's eligible costs provided by the state.

Veterans Benefits. The Department of Veterans' Affairs provides death benefits, pensions, insurance settlements, and adjustments to home mortgages for veterans.

Tax Refunds. The Internal Revenue Service allows certain casualty losses to be deducted on federal income tax returns for the year of the loss or through an immediate amendment to the previous year's return.

Unemployment Benefits. Disaster unemployment assistance and unemployment insurance benefits are funded by the United States Department of Labor and distributed through the state unemployment office. Individuals receiving such unemployment benefits may also receive retraining vouchers worth $4,000 to enhance their employability.

Private Sector Programs

Private charities have collected approximately $2 billion to assist individuals affected by the disaster. These charities provide funds to the families of victims, as well as assistance to those living or working in the area who suffered as a result of the World Trade Center disaster. Among the charities providing assistance are:

The American Red Cross, as of March 11, 2002, received $930 million in contributions, $558 million of which has already been disbursed. The Red Cross provided:

- $169 million in direct assistance to 3,266 families of the deceased and seriously injured;
- $270 million to 51,000 families of displaced workers, residents, and disaster workers; and
- $94 million in immediate disaster relief that has provided 14 million meals, mental health services for 232,000 people, and health services for 129,000 people.<sup>1</sup>

The September 11th Fund of the United Way of New York City and the New York Community Trust has raised $470 million for assistance to victims, families, and communities. Groups supported by the September 11th Fund include:

- Victims & Families - 92%
  - Cash Assistance - 86% ($206 million)
  - Other Services - 6% ($13.5 million)
- Community Organizations - 7%
  - Services - 1% ($2.3 million)
  - Loans/Grants - 6% ($13.5 million)
- Rescue/Recovery - 1%
  - Cash Reimbursement ($2.7 million)<sup>2</sup>

The Twin Towers Fund has collected approximately $150 million to provide assistance to families of uniformed services members who lost their lives as a result of the disaster. The fund provides: surviving spouses, $75,000; next of kin where no surviving spouse is present, $50,000; surviving children aged 23 or younger, $25,000; and surviving children aged 24 or older, $10,000. All heads of household (surviving spouses) will receive additional $10,000 payments.<sup>3</sup>

The New York State World Trade Center Relief Fund raised more than $56 million to assist families of victims of the World Trade Center Disaster. The fund provides grants of:

- $10,000 to surviving spouses and domestic partners;
- $5,000 to surviving children age 21 or younger and those older than 21 who received at least 50% of their financial support from the victim;
- Parents of victims where no surviving spouse, domestic partner, or children are eligible for an award receive $10,000; and
- Other individuals receiving at least 50% of their financial support from the victim, where there is no other eligible survivor receive $10,000.

I. Residential Grant Program (f.k.a. Housing Assistance Program)

Background

The World Trade Center disaster and concurrent damage to the transportation infrastructure and the surrounding residential and commercial communities had an immediate negative impact on the housing market in lower Manhattan, which resulted in a significant increase in vacancy rates. For many months, access to a large area surrounding the site of the former World Trade Center was severely restricted due to the wreckage and debris and the associated recovery workforce and equipment, including extensive arrangements for emergency power supplies. This restricted zone spanned the entire area south of Chambers Street and west of Nassau and Broad Streets including Battery Park City, which is the entire area to the west that is bounded by the Hudson River and contains the World Financial Center complex and a large residential community that is immediately to the south and north of the World Financial Center. LMDC has designated this area as “Zone 1,” the immediate impact zone. Access was also restricted in two zones beyond the immediate impact zone for various periods of time and some parts remain restricted due to their proximity to law enforcement facilities. These three zones correspond generally to the areas in Manhattan that are closest to the World Trade Center site and whose residents experienced the most exposure to the effects of the disaster, including the release of materials associated with the collapse of buildings, the fires, and the continuing clean up efforts. All residents of lower Manhattan face a number of concerns regarding the effects of the tragedy such as issues of quality of life, transportation, health care, and the disruption caused by ongoing construction that will be necessary to rebuild lower Manhattan. As part of the recovery process, the economic impact of many of these issues is being addressed through grant programs administered by FEMA and other Federal, State, and City agencies. Unfortunately, when the initial criteria for this program were first introduced, the lower Manhattan housing market remained depressed despite the efforts that were being made in the area.

The United States Housing Market Conditions Regional Activity Report issued by HUD reported that lower Manhattan rental rates were down approximately 10 to 15%. After September 11, 2001, approximately one-third of Battery Park City rental tenants did not return to their apartments.<sup>4</sup> Some rental prices fell 30 percent in Battery Park City<sup>5</sup> and rents in the Financial District fell from 16 to 21 percent on average.<sup>6</sup>

Owner-occupied housing saw a similar downturn in the aftermath of the tragedy. Real estate agents estimated a 10 percent to more than 25 percent drop in apartment prices between September and December 2001.<sup>7</sup> By January, very few units had sold in Battery Park City while some were still listed at 15 percent below September prices.<sup>8</sup>

Since September 11th, residents of lower Manhattan have suffered significant hardships, including financial hardships, as a result of the disaster. A primary purpose of the Residential Grant Program is to provide financial assistance to lower Manhattan residents in recognition of the personal, family, and living expenses they may have incurred as a result of the disaster.

The Residential Grant Program also recognizes that Lower Manhattan's residential population is essential to the continued viability of the area's businesses. Increased housing vacancy rates have a significant negative impact on the area's economic recovery. Increasing vacancies in the rental and owner-occupied housing markets begin a downward economic cycle, reducing business activity, which in turn makes housing in the area less attractive.

Development of an effective program to encourage individuals to remain in, or move to, housing in lower Manhattan requires the creation of significant incentives to encourage individuals to renew existing leases, sign new lease agreements, or purchase residential units. Without such a program, the perceived disadvantages of lower Manhattan as a housing location would continue to adversely impact the area's housing market and commercial activity.

The Residential Grant Program outlined in this Partial Action Plan meets these goals. Response to the Draft Assistance Plan for Individuals first announced in February was immediate and positive. Although Battery Park City's occupancy rate fell to 60% after the disaster,<sup>9</sup> its occupancy rate "rose by several percentage points, to 74 percent," a few weeks after the Draft Assistance Plan for Individuals was released for public comment.<sup>10</sup> In general, anecdotal evidence from building owners and prospective tenants shows that, after the plan was announced, there was a substantial increase in interest in apartments in the lower Manhattan area.

Area Characteristics

The population of the area south of Canal Street is diverse. Approximately half of the area's residents live within walking distance of their place of employment. Residential income characteristics reflect the area's industry mix, which includes a significant number of financial service businesses, small manufacturers (including garment producers), restaurants, retailers, and providers of professional and personal services. For example, residents of the area east of Broadway and south of Canal Street have a median household income that is lower than the area west of Broadway, which is characterized by relatively high household incomes.<sup>11</sup>

The area of lower Manhattan adjacent to the World Trade Center was attractive to urban professionals because of the presence of the major transportation hub at the World Trade Center and major shopping and service areas located at the World Trade Center and the World Financial Center. These attributes were complimented by the presence of attractive residential units in locations like Battery Park City and Tribeca. In Tribeca alone, more than 5,000 units were converted to housing from other purposes in the 1990's.

The areas of Chinatown, Little Italy, and parts of the Lower East Side have historically been a major residential entry point for immigrants in New York City and include predominantly lower and middle income households. While parts of this area are not south of Canal Street, this area experienced significant inconvenience, disruption, and economic hardship as a result of September 11th.<sup>12</sup>

Criteria for Assistance

This program offers financial assistance to residents who may have incurred substantial and extraordinary financial expenses as a result of the disaster. It also offers substantial financial incentives to offset the perceived and real disadvantages of living in lower Manhattan. In recognition of the costs incurred by residents and to encourage individuals to sign or renew leases or purchase or retain housing, in lower Manhattan, the following categories of grants are proposed:

Two-Year Commitment-Based Grants: Items 1 – 6

These grants are intended to provide an incentive to individuals to make a two-year commitment to lower Manhattan. This two-year commitment by residents stabilizes the residential communities adversely impacted by the September 11th tragedy and recognizes the value of the burdens and costs that may be connected with living in lower Manhattan as it remains a designated disaster area and rebuilding commences. In addition, the minimum grant amounts are intended to compensate those residents who incurred or will incur extra expenses because of the continuing effects of the September 11, 2001 disaster. The minimum grant amounts ($4,000 per unit in Zone 1 and $2,000 per unit in Zone 2) are expected to be reasonably commensurate with the extra reasonable and necessary personal, living, or family expenses that grant recipients have incurred or will incur as a result of the September 11, 2001 disaster, from the time they commenced residing in Zone 1 or Zone 2 through the second anniversary after the initial grant payment is made, excluding personal, living, or family expenses that are reimbursed from other sources, including FEMA and private insurance.

1. Rental units and owner occupied housing within Zone 1 (Zone 1 is defined as the area south of Chambers Street and west of Nassau and Broad Streets, including all buildings which face on those streets and the entirety of Battery Park City) will be eligible for a grant of 30% of the monthly rent (or mortgage payments, plus maintenance costs and real estate and related taxes for owner occupied units), up to $12,000 over two years. The Plan provides a minimum grant of $4,000 per assisted unit over two years.
2. Rental units and owner occupied housing within Zone 2 (Zone 2 is defined as the area outside Zone 1 but south of Canal Street and southwest of Rutgers Street, including all buildings which face on those streets) will be eligible for a grant of 30% of the monthly rent (or mortgage payments, plus maintenance costs and real estate and related taxes for owner occupied units), up to $6,000 over two years. The Plan provides a minimum grant of $2,000 per assisted unit over two years.
3. To be eligible for the grants related to rental units described in Items 1 & 2, all applicants must meet the following criteria:
  - The unit must be occupied by the applicant and the applicant must comply with one of the following two options:
    - (a) The applicant must have entered into at least a two-year lease commencing prior to July 1, 2002 and ending on or after May 31, 2003; or
    - (b) The applicant must have entered into at least a two-year lease commencing on or after July 1, 2002 and on or before May 31, 2003.
  - To be eligible for the program under option (b), the following rent restrictions apply:
    - Rents paid by tenants in rent-regulated units may not be more than the legally permitted rents for rent-regulated units.

- Rents paid by tenants in non-rent-regulated units may not be more than the following:
    - In Zone 1 -- 90% of pre-9/11/01 rents for the same rental unit, plus an adjustment equal to the level of rent increases set for two-year renewal leases by the New York City Rent Guidelines Board.
    - In Zone 2 -- 95% of pre-9/11/01 rents for the same rental unit, plus an adjustment equal to the level of rent increases set for two-year renewal leases by the New York City Rent Guidelines Board.
  - These rent restrictions do not apply to newly constructed units coming on line after September 11, 2001 or to units whose rent-regulation status changed or will change between September 11, 2001 and June 1, 2003.
  - Going forward, these rent restrictions may be adjusted to reflect market conditions.
  - Leases of existing tenants where the term of the lease is or has been renegotiated will only be eligible if their term expires at least two years after the effective date of the renegotiated lease or at least two years after the date the renegotiated lease was executed, whichever is later.
  - Tenants must show that their rental payments are up to date (or have otherwise been lawfully placed in escrow).
  - Payments under the program will be made directly to eligible tenants for up to two years.
  - One grant will be made per housing unit.
  - Additional eligibility criteria regarding health, safety, and habitability of buildings may be applied to this program.
4. To be eligible for the grants related to owner occupied housing described in Items 1 & 2, all applicants must meet the following criteria:
- The unit must be occupied by the owner applicant and the owner applicant must comply with one of the following two options:
    - (a) Existing owners must agree to remain for at least two years after July 1, 2002; or
    - (b) New owners who purchase on or after July 1, 2002 and on or before May 31, 2003 must agree to remain for at least two years.

- Only owner-occupied residences will be eligible for assistance. Owners who lease out their residences will not be eligible for this assistance, but their tenants will be eligible if they satisfy the criteria set forth in Item 3. See Item 5 for possible exceptions.
  - Existing owners who have completed the payment of their mortgages will be eligible for a grant of 50% of monthly maintenance costs and real estate and related taxes, up to the maximum amounts of $12,000 or $6,000 over two years.
  - Owners must show that mortgage, maintenance, and real estate and related tax payments are up to date (or have otherwise been lawfully placed in escrow).
  - Payments under the program will be made directly to eligible owners for up to two years.
  - One grant will be made per housing unit.
  - Additional eligibility criteria regarding health, safety, and habitability of buildings may be applied to this program.
5. Units leased or owned for residential purposes by corporations, universities, and other designated institutions may be subject to special criteria. These units will only be eligible for the grants described in Item 1 and Item 2.
6. LMDC will determine whether buildings are in compliance with the criteria of this program (i.e. offering two-year leases and complying with the rent restrictions outlined in Item 3), before its housing units will be deemed eligible. This certification process may vary for certain subsets or categories of buildings.

One-Time Grant Per Housing Unit for September 11, 2001 Residents: Item 7

These grants for residents of lower Manhattan who have continued to live in the area since September 11th provide compensation for the substantial and extraordinary personal, family, and living expenses they may have incurred as a result of the disaster and provide an additional incentive for them to remain. These grants recognize the value of a commitment to remain in lower Manhattan despite the displacement of many residents and the significant inconvenience, disruption, and economic costs that residents have experienced since September 11th as a result of the disaster.

7. A one-time grant of $1,000 is available per currently occupied housing unit in Zone 1, Zone 2, or Zone 3 (Zone 3 is defined as: the area north of Canal Street and Rutgers Street; south of Delancey and Kenmare Streets; and east of Lafayette Street in Manhattan, including all buildings which face on those streets with the exception of Canal Street and Rutgers Street). Applicants for this one-time grant must have resided in rental units or owner occupied housing in Zone 1, Zone 2, or Zone 3 prior to September 11, 2001 and continue to reside in Zone 1, Zone 2, or Zone 3 through the date of application and the date of award. Residents who relocated within or between the eligible zones will be eligible for this grant.

One-Time Grant Per Housing Unit for Families: Items 8 - 10

These grants are intended to provide an incentive to families to make at least a one-year commitment to live in lower Manhattan, recognizing that keeping and attracting families is crucial to the stability and vitality of lower Manhattan. In addition, these grants are intended to compensate such families for the extra expenses they incurred or will incur because of the continuing effects of the September 11, 2001 disaster. These grants are expected to be reasonably commensurate with the extra reasonable and necessary personal, living, or family expenses that grant recipients have incurred or will incur as a result of the September 11, 2001 disaster, from the time they commenced residing in Zone 1, Zone 2, or Zone 3 through the first anniversary after the grant is made, excluding personal, living, or family expenses that are reimbursed from other sources, including FEMA and private insurance.

8. Eligible rental units and owner occupied housing within Zone 1 whose household includes one or more children under age 18 at the date of their application will be eligible for an additional family grant of $1,500. One grant will be made per housing unit. The additional eligibility criteria for these grants are described in Item 10.
9. Eligible rental units and owner occupied housing within Zone 2 and Zone 3 whose household includes one or more children under age 18 at the date of their application will be eligible for an additional family grant of $750. One grant will be made per housing unit. The additional eligibility criteria for these grants are described in Item 10.
10. To be eligible for the family grants described in Items 8 & 9, all applicants must meet the following criteria:
  - The unit must be occupied by the applicant and the identified child(ren) and the applicant must comply with one of the following four options:
    - (a) The applicant must have entered into at least a two-year lease commencing prior to June 1, 2002 and ending on or after May 31, 2003; or
    - (b) The applicant must have entered into at least a one-year lease commencing on or after June 1, 2002 and on or before May 31, 2003; or
    - (c) Existing owners must agree to remain for at least one year after June 1, 2002; or
    - (d) New owners who purchase on or after June 1, 2002 and on or before May 31, 2003 must agree to remain for at least one year.

Supplemental Assistance: Item 11

11. Abatements and subsidies for the same purpose as the grants in this program will be factored into the determination of eligibility and the calculation of grant amounts for all types of grants.

Program Estimates

Estimated number of units included in the program:

- Housing units in Zone 1: 9,361
- Housing units in Zone 2: 22,052
- Housing units in Zone 3: 16,141

Estimated program cost: Up to approximately $280,500,000.

Administration of the Residential Grant Program

LMDC will contract with one or more entities to provide administrative services in connection with this Residential Grant Program. The program administrator(s) and the LMDC staff will establish specific guidelines for the program based on the criteria for the Residential Grant Program in this proposed Partial Action Plan.

II. Employment Training Assistance Program

Background

An array of job training programs is being provided through existing workforce development programs to help individuals affected by September 11th obtain basic skills needed for employment in the New York City area. For example, New York State has received a $25 million National Emergency Grant from the federal government to provide job training, placement services, career counseling, resume preparation, and access to job banks to individuals impacted by the tragedy. The grant, provided through the New York State Department of Labor to 14 organizations offering these services, will help workers dislocated as a result of the tragedy transition back into the workforce.

In addition, unemployed individuals can receive training vouchers valued at $5,000 through the Workforce Investment Act for training that prepares them for jobs that are in occupations in high demand.

However, to be effective in specific employment settings, new and existing employees often require specific skills not taught in traditional classroom training programs. The customized training needed by individuals for their particular jobs involves special preparation, often in on-the-job settings in the use of proprietary work or production techniques.

Plan for Assistance

This program will provide grants to train current and prospective employees of businesses and not-for-profit organizations in the area south of 14th Street. Such grants will prioritize individuals affected by September 11th, specifically individuals who lost wages and worked below Houston Street on September 11th, providing them with the skills they need to succeed at the specific work processes found at those businesses.

1. Assistance will be in the form of grants to businesses and not-for-profit organizations south of 14th Street. These grants will be used for training and retraining for skills specific to the needs of these businesses, not-for-profit organizations, and employees.
2. Eligible firms must employ fewer than 500 people.
3. The maximum benefit will be 50% of eligible training costs.
4. Groups of small firms (so-called training consortia) will be eligible applicants, and could receive a fee of up to 5% of training costs for administration.
5. Up to $10 million will be allocated through this program.
6. This program will provide assistance to approximately 5,000 individuals.<sup>13</sup>

<sup>13</sup> ESD estimate

Administration of the Employment Training Assistance Program

The Employment Training Assistance Program will be administered by the Empire State Development Corporation.

III. Interim Memorial

The Lower Manhattan Development Corporation will provide funding for the design and installation of the interim memorial for victims of the September 11th World Trade Center tragedy and the 1993 World Trade Center bombing. This use of funds benefits the health and welfare of all of the communities affected by the September 11th tragedy and the nation by providing a place where these communities can come together to remember and commemorate the victims of the attacks during this period of recovery and rebuilding.

The memorial is located in a section of historic Battery Park known as Eisenhower Mall, near Bowling Green and adjacent to Hope Garden. The centerpiece of the memorial is "The Sphere for Plaza Fountain," a monument to fostering world peace that sat atop a granite fountain in the center of the 5-acre World Trade Center Plaza. The Sphere is framed on either side by a row of trees and park benches.

The LMDC Board and staff worked closely with representatives of victims' families, area residents, and city and state officials to design the plan for the interim memorial and to identify an appropriate site. A team consisting of LMDC, city and state planners, engineers, and architects prepared the site and installed the interim memorial. Extensive preparation of the site was necessary to support The Sphere. Preparation of the site included landscaping, the installation of decorative stones, and the construction of structural supports to hold The Sphere in place.

Program cost is up to $350,000.

IV. Planning and Administration

With the creation of the LMDC in December 2001, New York State and the City of New York established a coordinating vehicle for recovery, remembrance, and rebuilding efforts in lower Manhattan. LMDC has secured facilities and staff that will provide planning, administration, and management services related to those efforts as well as the development of plans for the revitalization of the areas immediately surrounding the site of the September 11th tragedy. The initial set of basic principles and guidelines for LMDC's planning efforts are embodied in a draft document entitled Principles and Preliminary Blueprint for the Future of Lower Manhattan, which has been made available for public consideration and comment. As part of its coordinated planning activities, LMDC has already made, and will continue to make, this and other information available to its eight advisory councils and to the public via the LMDC web site, www.renewnyc.com. In addition, LMDC will oversee and monitor the program administration by others of the Residential Grant Program and the Employment Training Assistance Program described in this Partial Action Plan. HUD has authorized the use of up to 5% of the proposed expenditure, equaling approximately $15.1 million, for costs associated with these planning, administration, and management activities, which includes such additional items as outreach, overhead, and research.

V. Responses to Public Comments

This section describes the comments received from the public following the release of two earlier drafts of this proposed Partial Action Plan. Section V.A. reflects the comments, modifications, and clarifications made to the initial criteria for the Residential Grant Program presented in the Draft Assistance Plan for Individuals after the first public comment period from February 21 to March 13. Section V.B. details the comments and responses relating to the revised and renamed plan, the draft Partial Action Plan, after it was released for public comment from April 9 through April 23. Due to the further modifications to the plan, some of the answers in V.A. are different than those given in V.B. LMDC has made an effort to note responses that differ in the second response. Finally, Section V.C. details the comments received on the Employment Training Assistance Program and LMDC's responses.

A. Draft Assistance Plan for Individuals

Comment Period: February 21 through March 13, 2002

Housing Assistance Program

1. Expressions of Support and Requests for Information

238 commenters expressed support for the housing assistance plan.

No response needed.

287 requested further information, and 102 inquired how to receive an application.

LMDC's web site, www.renewnyc.com, will have updates on the status of program administration. When the program has been fully approved and an application process established, it will be widely advertised in Manhattan. An outreach campaign will be implemented to reach eligible residents and potential residents.

2. Geographic Expansion

Many comments received, both from individuals and public officials, expressed the desire for LMDC to broaden the geographic boundaries of the program. 169 commenters, more than half of all the comments received regarding geographic expansion, advocated that the boundary of Zone 1 be extended east to Nassau Street. Community Board 1 and Senator Martin Connor specifically made this request. State Assembly Speaker Silver and Manhattan Borough President Fields asked that LMDC expand the Immediate Impact Zone. Various buildings' tenant associations asked for the inclusion of their buildings. One commenter asked that LMDC not enlarge the zones, two others thought the zones were too large.

In response to these comments, LMDC revised the plan to extend the eastern border of Zone 1 to Nassau Street, maintaining Chambers as the northern boundary and continuing south to the East River via Broad Street.

Another 91 commenters proposed extensions north and east to various streets. A petition with 61 signatures from a housing complex northeast of Zone 1 requested their inclusion in that zone, as did comments from Assembly-member Deborah Glick and Senator Connor. Twenty commenters felt that areas north of Canal Street should be eligible for assistance. Specific requests were made by civic organizations such as MFY Legal Services and the Pratt Institute Center for Community and Environmental Development, and public officials such as Borough President Fields and Speaker Silver to include neighborhoods with a relatively high proportion of low- and middle-income residents.

In response, LMDC decided to add a third zone of eligibility extending north of Canal to Delancey and Kenmare Streets with a western boundary of Lafayette Street. A one-time grant of $1,000 per housing unit would be given to current residents who lived in this area on September 11th. This change addresses comments expressed that LMDC take into consideration low-income communities situated in parts of the Lower East Side, Chinatown, and Little Italy.

3. Family Grants

Commenters suggested that special consideration be given to families with children to recognize that keeping and attracting families is crucial to the stability and vitality of Lower Manhattan. Community Board 1, the Tribeca Organization (an ad hoc group of merchants and residents), and Manhattan Borough President Fields specifically made this request, as did members of the LMDC's Residents Advisory Council, a body consisting of representatives of lower Manhattan neighborhoods. One commenter asked specifically about reimbursement for childcare expenses.

In response to these comments, the plan will now give a one-time bonus to eligible households with children – in Zone 1: $1,500 per household; in Zone 2: $750 per household.

4. Pre-9/11 Residents' Eligibility for $1,000 Bonus

Under the original draft criteria, pre-9/11 residents would only be eligible for the $1,000 bonus when they renewed their existing leases. Pre-9/11 residents who relocated within the zone would be ineligible. Assembly Speaker Silver and Community Board 1 requested that LMDC address this issue. Eight commenters specifically advocated this point as their main focus, and a number of additional commenters referenced the issue within a larger discussion. Some residents were forced to move due to physical damage. Others took advantage of high vacancy rates and moved within their buildings or within the zone. Whether or not they relocated, 9/11 residents might experience a time delay in receiving their benefits if they are required to wait for the renewal of their existing leases.

The plan has been revised in response to these comments and will now award the $1,000 grant to any resident who lived in the eligible zones on 9/11 and remains a resident in the eligible zones. An individual need not live in the same unit or building and his or her eligibility is not contingent upon signing a new lease. Pre-9/11 residents will be eligible for their $1,000 bonuses upon presentation of a lease that is valid and active as of the commencement date of the program (and, if necessary, another lease demonstrating their residency within the zone on 9/11). One grant will be made per current housing unit.

5. Delayed Onset of Benefit

Some residents who signed a 2-year lease prior to 9/1/01 may have to wait as much as 18 months before becoming eligible for the benefit. This also applies to 9/11 residents who relocated. More than a dozen commenters expressed concern regarding the delay in receiving the benefit.

LMDC has altered the criteria so that two-year or longer term leases commencing on or after 6/1/01 and before 7/1/02 will be eligible. This change will reduce the delay of eligibility for grants to a maximum of about a year for all residents of Zones 1 and 2 on September 11.

6. Institutional Apartment Eligibility

The eligibility of housing units leased by universities, corporations and other institutions was unclear. New York University (NYU) submitted a comment explaining that they hold several long-term leases on buildings south of Canal Street that they sub-lease to their students, faculty, and staff. In the majority of these cases, it was not realistic for two-year leases to be offered. A similar situation exists with corporate apartments that have long-term leases and are occupied by multiple tenants over the course of two years. Comments from the Real Estate Board of New York and Furnished Quarters (a corporate housing enterprise) asked that these units be included.

The program was revised to provide for special criteria for units leased and owned by corporations, universities, and other designated institutions. Eligibility is for the main subsidy and not for the pre-9/11 $1,000 grant or the family bonus. The goals are to offer an incentive to corporations that may be making location decisions and relief to other downtown institutions.

7. Ensuring that Rents are Not Raised in Response to the Subsidy

Twenty-one commenters who are renters have provided anecdotal evidence that landlords are planning to take or are taking unfair advantage of the grant program by raising rents in ways that limit the value of the LMDC payment. Example: Potential renters are being offered substantially different rental rates based on either one-year or two-year leases. One commenter stated that because his landlord is raising the rent to 100% of pre-9/11 rates – outweighing the value of the benefit to the tenant – he would end up paying more for the same apartment even after the subsidy. Community Board 1 proposed a rent level of 90% of pre-9/11 rates for eligibility. One commenter suggested calculating payments on pre-9/11 rents, while not imposing any limits on current rents. One commenter was opposed to any stipulations regarding rent levels.

In order to ensure that rents do not rise unreasonably in response to the subsidy, eligibility is contingent upon rents in leases that commence after the start date of the program remaining at the following levels: Zone 1-90% of pre-9/11 rents; Zone 2: 95% of pre-9/11 rates. As stated in the plan, LMDC may adjust these levels after the commencement of the program based on market conditions and other significant factors. Building eligibility is based on landlords' compliance with these rent levels and their willingness to offer two-year leases.

(Note: Please see second comment response for updated information.)

8. Fairly Compensating Owners Who No Longer Make Mortgage Payments

Eleven commenters noted that property owners who have completed mortgage payments may be eligible for less than other residents under the draft plan's criteria.

In response, LMDC will raise the grant for existing owners in this category to 50% of maintenance costs and taxes from the current 30% figure, while maintaining the cap at $6,000 for Zone 2 and $12,000 for Zone 1.

9. Units Returning to the Market

The Real Estate Board of New York noted that units subject to vacancy deregulation (i.e., Gateway Plaza) and vacated rent stabilized units should not be held to the pre-9/11 rent clause (i.e. that rents remain at pre-9/11 levels).

In response to these comments, the program was modified to state that the pre-9/11 restrictions "do not apply to newly constructed units, units subject to vacancy deregulation, and other rent regulated units that become unregulated."

10. New Construction

New York City Housing Preservation and Development points out that there are residential buildings currently under construction that will be completed before 8/31/03. They asked that LMDC clarify these units' eligibility.

In response to these comments, the program now states that the pre-9/11 restrictions "do not apply to newly constructed units, units subject to vacancy deregulation, and other rent regulated units that become unregulated."

(Note: Please see second comment response for updated information.)

11. Owners' Loss of Value

Property values have dropped in the affected zones. Eight commenters felt the LMDC program needed to do more to address this concern, as did Speaker Silver.

An important impetus for the creation of the housing assistance program was the decrease in residential property values. The goal of the program is to revitalize and stabilize the housing market, thereby restoring property values to pre-9/11 levels.

12. Two-Year Lease Issues:

Thirty-six commenters noted that certain landlords refuse to sign two-year leases. Thirty-six separate commenters felt that the two year commitment was too long. Two commenters thought one-year leases should be eligible, as did Community Board 1, Borough President Fields and the Tribeca Organization. One commenter suggested that a current one-year lease plus a new one-year lease should be eligible. Congressman Jerrold Nadler proposed that an affidavit expressing intent to reside in Lower Manhattan for two years should be sufficient. Another commenter said that two years of residency should be sufficient and that the benefit should not be contingent on a lease.

Two-year leases are a key component of the housing assistance program. The goal of the program is to encourage the neighborhood investment and stability that will result from an increase in two-year commitments – and two-year leases are the best available method of ensuring this commitment. The eligibility of buildings will be determined on the basis of criteria such as landlords' compliance with the two-year lease provision.

13. Additional 9/11-related Subsidies.

Prior to the enactment of the LMDC plan, other entities such as the Battery Park City Authority have offered rent abatements to their residents. Two commenters inquired about the overlap between the programs; one of these felt the BPCA abatements should not be subtracted from the LMDC grant.

The LMDC program's grant calculations may factor in abatements such as those offered by the Battery Park City Authority. In general, other abatements and subsidies may be factored into the determination of eligibility and the calculation of grant amounts.

14. Dollar Amount of Maximum Grants

Forty-seven commenters said the maximum grant sizes ($12,000 or $6,000 over two years) are too small. Speaker Silver and Pratt Institute's Center for Community and Environmental Development echoed this sentiment.

In order to guarantee the minimum payment ($4,000 or $2,000) to low- and middle-income residents and other provisions of the plan, LMDC chose to set these maximum payments in order to maintain the financial feasibility of the program.

15. Health and Safety

Fifty-three commenters expressed concern about air quality, as did Councilmember Sanders and Good Old Lower East Side, a member of the Rebuilding with a Spotlight on the Poor Coalition. Some of the commenters thought extra money should be spent on ensuring the safety of the air and two believed that all buildings should be inspected and cleaned, if necessary. One commenter was opposed to the housing program and thought all the money should go to ensuring that the air in Lower Manhattan is safe.

LMDC understands that, at both the local and national levels, taskforces have been established to address the air quality issue in lower Manhattan. The City of New York has recently established a Lower Manhattan Air Quality Task Force to address residents' concerns on this topic and has appointed a coordinator for these issues. The federal EPA has established a body to analyze and address these issues and has made announcements on this topic recently.

Three commenters thought there should be a greater focus on health and safety. Two of these proposed more money for healthcare and one requested more focus on health and safety in general. One comment suggested additional payment for pain and suffering. MFY Legal Services, representing the Spotlight on the Poor Coalition, said there should be free healthcare for residents.

These comments are beyond the scope of this plan. LMDC will take these points into account in crafting future programs or in working with other government agencies in the formation of their initiatives in these areas.

Two commenters asked if additional assistance was being offered to disabled residents.

The program does not specifically address this issue, but the guide to resources in the plan describes organizations that will help disabled residents.

16. More Focus on Quality of Life

Twelve commenters advocated that more resources should be dedicated to improving the quality of life for residents. Two of these comments referenced cleaning up lower Manhattan. Others proposed that more money be spent on amenities such as retail stores and restaurants. Additionally, ten commenters believed the money would be better spent on improving quality of life, supporting businesses, or financing schools. Community Board 1, Borough President Fields and the Tribeca Organization all suggested that more money be spent on neighborhood amenities.

LMDC agrees that the amenities and institutions of Lower Manhattan must be strengthened in order to ensure its continuing livability and attractiveness. The housing assistance program, in coordination with business assistance programs administered by ESDC and the City of New York's Economic Development Corporation, is the beginning of a coordinated effort to improve life for Lower Manhattan residents. Supporting businesses in the neighborhood and reinforcing the stability of the real estate market will enable LMDC to focus on other community improvements in the future. LMDC's advisory council structure will ensure that future projects correspond to the needs of Lower Manhattan's varied constituencies.

17. Battery Park City Issue: Higher Benefit

Six residents of Battery Park City felt they deserved more money under the plan than other lower Manhattan Residents.

The LMDC plan places Battery Park City in Zone 1. This makes BPC residents eligible for the maximum benefit the plan offers, higher than the residents of both Zone 2 and Zone 3.

18. Battery Park City Issue: Reduction of Payments

Nine residents of Battery Park City suggested either reducing or eliminating their PILOT and ground rent payments. One demanded more control over the use of the proceeds from these payments.

These comments are beyond the scope of this plan. The Battery Park City Authority is the administrative body to address regarding these concerns.

19. Increase the One-Time Grant

Three comments suggested that the one-time $1,000 grant be given out per resident rather than per housing unit. Three comments suggested that the one-time $1,000 grant should be larger, even as large as $10,000. Borough President Fields suggested $5,000.

The one-time $1,000 grant recognizes the extended disruption and disturbance experienced by people who resided in the eligible zones on 9/11 and continue to live in the eligible zones. Within the budgetary constraints of the program, LMDC has chosen to devote greater resources to the payments that will be given out over the course of two years to increase and maintain neighborhood stability. This program aims to curtail these effects and improve the quality of life of existing residents through the creation, maintenance, and promotion of a stable residential community that will support improvements to the community.

20. Taxes

Six comments proposed reductions in property taxes. One of these commenters was specifically concerned about rising property tax assessments. One commenter proposed an education tax credit, another proposed a reduction in city taxes in lieu of the LMDC grant program. Community Board 1 and the Tribeca Organization suggested implementing a sales tax holiday for a limited time in Lower Manhattan.

Property taxes and other city taxes are outside the jurisdiction of the LMDC. The grant program being offered will be a much more timely benefit to residents than an effort to affect changes in the tax code.

21. Owner and Long-Term Resident Issues

Seventeen commenters felt that owners and long-term residents should receive more than renters and new residents. Twenty comments suggested that 9/11 residents deserve more than newcomers to Lower Manhattan. Two of these commenters thought the plan helped new residents more than current residents. Two others were opposed to offering incentives to renters at all, arguing that they would not enhance neighborhood stability.

People residing in the eligible zones on September 11th may receive the $1,000 one-time grant, while new residents will not. A primary objective of the LMDC program is the creation, maintenance, and promotion of a stable residential community. One way the program aims to accomplish this is through the attraction of new residents, both owners and renters, to lower Manhattan; therefore, the plan offers them the same benefit levels as current and long-term residents. FEMA and a number of private charities have been offering financial assistance to lower Manhattan residents since September. A listing of other resources available can be found in the preface to the LMDC plan.

Sixteen comments requested that owners who lease-out their units be eligible for assistance.

One of the goals of the LMDC program is to offer an incentive to renters to move to lower Manhattan, thereby aiding landlords who have been suffering from increased vacancy rates. A more stable rental market will aid landlords; LMDC will accomplish this by offering incentives directly to tenants, rather than to non-resident owners.

Six comments proposed or inquired about help specifically for homebuyers.

New homeowners will be eligible for the LMDC program pursuant to the criteria described in the plan.

Three comments suggested offering subsidies for the development of new properties or the improvement of existing buildings.

The goal of the LMDC grant program is to stabilize the lower Manhattan real estate market. New residential buildings are eligible for the program pursuant to the criteria in the plan. Capital improvements to lower Manhattan real estate is an activity the program hopes to stimulate.

One commenter suggested having HUD or the SBA refinance the outstanding balance of mortgages in lower Manhattan; another commenter also suggested mortgage financing support.

Owners are eligible for grants under the LMDC program.

22. 9/11 Resident Issues

Eight commenters asked that LMDC settle outstanding rent strikes. One comment asked that 9/11 residents be permitted to break their existing lease without penalty.

LMDC has no control over leases between landlords and their tenants. Many tenants in lower Manhattan have been renegotiating rents for lower rates since September, a practice encouraged by the Real Estate Board of New York.

One comment suggested that rents for 9/11 residents be kept at post-9/11 rates for two years.

A goal of the program is that rental rates return to consistency with the rest of Manhattan, while at the same time offering financial assistance to residents who have suffered extended disruption.

One comment asked what provisions were being made for residents forced to leave for medical reasons.

The LMDC plan does not specifically address this issue, but the guide to resources in the plan describes organizations that will help residents with medical issues.

23. Rent Regulation and Lower Income Residents

Two comments suggested using rent stabilization as a means of assisting residents. One comment described concerns about a landlord ceasing the practice of voluntary adherence to rent stabilization. Three comments expressed concerns about housing units that would soon be losing regulated status. One comment asked about tenants forced to leave rent-regulated units.

Rent regulated units are eligible for the LMDC program pursuant to the criteria in the plan. Concerns regarding specific rent regulation programs should be addressed to the agencies that administer them.

Three comments felt that the grant should not be based on rent, two of these thought this was discriminatory. Councilman Sanders and Good Jobs New York proposed that the benefit be based on income. One comment stated that all grants should be equal. One commenter felt low-income residents are ignored, another specifically requested that they be included. Two others suggested limiting the grant to low- and middle-income residents. One commenter felt that people who can afford to buy a home shouldn't get assistance. Another suggested implementing citywide programs to assist low-income individuals. One comment requested that subsidized housing be eligible.

The LMDC plan sets a minimum grant of either $4,000 or $2,000 in Zone 1 and Zone 2, respectively. The minimum grant exists specifically to assist lower income residents who would receive a negligible benefit if calculated on 30% of their monthly payment. In the revised plan, LMDC has expanded eligibility and will provide a benefit to neighborhoods north of Canal Street where there is a larger concentration of lower income New Yorkers. The LMDC includes all residents of lower Manhattan with the goal of promoting a stable residential population and in recognition of the disruption they have suffered, regardless of income level. All subsidized housing is eligible under the criteria of the LMDC plan.

24. Administration

Certain residents (loft tenants, rent-control tenants) pay rents that are extremely below market. In rare cases, the minimum benefit may exceed monthly tenant payments.

In response to this issue, LMDC will limit the subsidy to the level that makes the tenant contribution $0 – but no lower (i.e. no tenants will receive grants in excess of their own rent payments).

Ten commenters urged that the program be run efficiently with a simple application process and that money be available soon. Four commenters asked for more information on the logistics of the administration.

LMDC is currently in the process of planning the administration of this program. The current plan foresees a simple application process, local location(s) where residents may submit applications, the ability for residents to mail in applications, and a hotline to respond to questions.

A number of comments suggested that people had misunderstood the criteria laid out in the draft plan.

LMDC will provide clarifications and answers to frequently asked questions when the program is implemented. The revised plan has clarified details such as the fact that both sides of border streets are eligible for benefits as well as inserting clearer language concerning dates of eligibility (i.e. “on or before 6/1/03”).

Three commenters asked for clarification concerning the “health, safety, and habitability” clause found in Item 5 of the plan. (Item 3 in the draft)

Health, safety, and habitability will be factors in the certification of a building’s eligibility.

Two commenters asked that the program be extended for longer than the two years currently proposed.

LMDC does not anticipate extending the housing assistance program. It is hoped that two years will provide sufficient time for the lower Manhattan real estate market to stabilize, for vacancy rates to drop, and to offer meaningful benefits to residents.

Six commenters inquired about the eligibility of units with no leases, i.e. lofts and rent controlled units.

In certain limited cases, LMDC is considering processes under which it may permit proof of residency other than a lease.

Seven commenters asked if the grants were taxable.

This question is still under consideration by the taxing authorities.

One commenter said it was difficult to find information on the LMDC program. Councilman Sanders stated he was unaware of any effort to distribute the plan in languages other than English.

The Draft Assistance Plan for Individuals was made available to the public on February 21 for public review. Advertisements were placed in all major New York City English, Chinese, and Spanish-language daily newspapers as well as smaller newspapers serving communities in Lower Manhattan. The plan was translated into Chinese and Spanish. The text of the plan was made available in person and through LMDC's web site as well as other sites. Over 1,100 individual comments were received during the 20-day public comment period. LMDC's web site, www.renewnyc.com, will continue to provide updates on the status of program administration. When the plan has been fully approved and an application process established, the Housing Assistance Program will be widely advertised in Lower Manhattan in English, Chinese, and Spanish.

One commenter requested the inclusion of resident managers and superintendents who may not pay rent.

These residents will be eligible for the one-time $1,000 grant and the family bonus. They must meet the same criteria as all other residents. Other grants in the program are based on monthly rent or mortgage, maintenance, and tax payments without exception.

Two commenters asked if foreign residents are eligible.

Residents are eligible pursuant to HUD criteria.

One commenter asked that we consider giving grants per resident rather than per unit.

The program is structured to award grants per housing unit, regardless of the number of residents. Awarding grants per resident would exceed the budgetary constraints of the program.

25. Proposals, General Comments and Questions

Wall Street Rising, a merchant's association, has proposed a marketing campaign on the virtues of Living in Lower Manhattan.

This proposal is outside the scope of the housing assistance program. LMDC accepts applications for funding through a separate process and reviews them accordingly.

Pace University and one individual commenter requested special consideration for students.

Students are eligible for the program pursuant to the same criteria as all other residents.

One commenter felt that people developing the plan should live in Lower Manhattan.

Lower Manhattan residents have been involved in all the stages of development of this program.

One commenter proposed setting aside housing for members of the New York City Police and Fire Departments.

This proposal is outside the scope of the housing assistance program.

Six commenters voiced concern over issues such as bus traffic, construction noise and cable rates.

These issues are outside the scope of the housing assistance program.

One commenter offered a proposal on how to improve Battery Park City.

This proposal is outside the scope of the housing assistance program.

One commenter said that buildings with physical damage should get more money.

Residents of such buildings are eligible for the program pursuant to the same criteria as all other residents.

Two commenters requested improvements in transportation, while many noted the disruption in transportation since September 11. One commenter suggested an increase in bus service for Lower Manhattan. Another proposed subsidizing water taxi service for residents.

Transportation is outside the scope of this program. Improvements to the transportation infrastructure in lower Manhattan are a key component of LMDC's continuing planning activities.

26. Proposals, Comments and Questions-Outside Scope of Individual Assistance

Twenty commenters inquired about business assistance.

ESDC and New York City's EDC are the primary provider of business assistance programs to 9/11 affected businesses.

22 comments offered suggestions on what structures should be built on the former World Trade Center Site.

16 residents of Battery Park City wrote stating their opposition to the previously proposed (and subsequently changed) location of a temporary memorial.

5 commenters were seeking employment.

5 were looking for general information on the LMDC or Lower Manhattan.

One commenter proposed giving Alan Gerson a formal role in the overall development process.

One commenter proposed opening social service centers in Lower Manhattan.

These comments and proposals are outside the scope of the housing assistance program.

B. Draft Partial Action Plan
Comment Period: April 9 through April 23

Housing Assistance Program

1. Expressions of Support and Requests for Information

Twenty commenters expressed support for the housing assistance plan. Among these comments, support was expressed specifically for the creation of the family grant, the inclusion of Nassau Street in Zone 1, the creation of Zone 3 and the new criteria for receiving the one-time $1000 grant.

No response needed.

Ninety-four commenters requested further information, and eleven commenters inquired as to how to obtain an application.

LMDC's web site, www.renewnyc.com, will have updates on the status of program administration. When the program has been fully approved and an application process established, information on how to apply will be available through the web site and the program will be widely advertised in Lower Manhattan.

2. Concern regarding rent restriction outlined in Item 5

Item 5 of the housing assistance criteria states that, in the case of any lease signed after the commencement date of the program, eligible rents must be less than the pre-9/11/01 rate of the same unit -- 90% or less in Zone 1 and 95% or less in Zone 2. Sixteen commenters, many of whom are residents of rent regulated units, expressed concern about, and in some cases opposition to this stipulation. Their concern was that landlords would not offer two-year leases on these terms, thereby making the residents ineligible for the benefit. New York City Council Member Alan Gerson expressed the concern that residents of rent regulated units would be adversely affected by this clause; a number of tenants associations also made this point. The Lower Manhattan Tenants Association suggested that the rent restrictions only be applied to new tenants. One commenter noted that pre-9/11/01 rental rates are difficult to obtain. Five commenters noted that the program has raised rents. One commenter suggested that LMDC keep rents low by instituting rent control.

In response to these comments, the program has been adjusted as follows: (1) Rents paid by tenants in rent-regulated units may not be more than the legally permitted rents for rent-regulated units and (2) In other units, rents must be 90% or 95% or less (Zone 1 and Zone 2, respectively) of pre-9/11/01 rents for the same rental unit, plus an adjustment equal to the level of rent increases set for two-year renewal leases by the New York City Rent Guidelines Board.

3. Concerns regarding Item 9

Item 9 states that “other abatements and subsidies may be factored into the determination of eligibility and the calculation of grant amounts.” Seven commenters expressed concern about, and in some cases opposition to this stipulation. State Assembly Speaker Silver, Councilmember Gerson, several tenants associations and the Battery Park City Homeowners Coalition expressed concern about this clause.

As stated, this Partial Action Plan “focuses on those forms of residential and job-training assistance that are not currently available.” “It does not attempt to provide assistance for needs that are already being met.” Additionally, HUD has guidelines precluding the duplication of benefits. This item provides LMDC the flexibility to review other grants and subsidies and their relationship to this plan. In reviewing these cases, LMDC will consider and comply with HUD guidelines and requirements.

4. Geographic Expansion

Nine commenters requested the expansion of the eligible zones in various permutations: specific streets such as Duane, William, Pearl and Water were proposed as new boundaries for Zone 1; specific requests were made for Zone 1 to encompass the housing developments Southbridge Towers (Speaker Silver), Chatham Green (Councilmember Gerson), and Independence Plaza North (Councilmember Gerson). Speaker Silver requested that the entirety of Chinatown and Little Italy be included in Zone 2.

LMDC has given thorough consideration to the already revised geographic boundaries of the program and will maintain them as described in the proposed Partial Action Plan.

5. Two-Year Lease Issues

Nine commenters and the Lower Manhattan Tenants Coalition wrote that some landlords are not offering two year leases. Ten commenters stated that two years was too long of a commitment for renters.

Two-year leases are a key component of the housing assistance program. The goal of the program is to encourage the neighborhood investment and stability that will result from an increase in two-year commitments – and two-year leases are the best available method of ensuring this commitment.

One commenter asked that the program deem eligible any renegotiated lease that extends through 5/31/03.

The language of the plan has been clarified and states the following: a renegotiated lease will only be eligible “if the term expires at least two years after the effective date of the renegotiated lease or at least two years after the date the renegotiated lease was executed, whichever is later.” Consistent with the rest of the program, a renegotiated lease must represent a new two-year commitment.

6. Zone 3 Benefit

One commenter requested a higher benefit for residents of Zone 3. Many residents of Chinatown (much of which is situated in Zone 3) submitted comments detailing the hardship they've suffered since September 11 and asking for assistance. Speaker Silver asked that residents of Zone 3 receive the family grant.

In response to these comments, LMDC will give an additional grant of $750 to Zone 3 households with children. Eligibility will be contingent on agreeing to remain in lower Manhattan for at least a year. Households with children in Zone 1 and Zone 2 will now be eligible for the family grant on agreeing to remain for at least one year, instead of the previous requirement that they qualify for the two-year commitment based grants.

7. September 11th Resident Issues

Six commenters felt that September 11th residents should not have to wait until renewing a lease before receiving the benefit. Two commenters felt that September 11th residents and long-term residents deserve more money than others. One commenter felt that the criteria for eligibility should be relaxed in the case of September 11th residents.

LMDC modified the first draft of the housing plan in response to comments similar to these. The $1,000 grant will be awarded to any resident who lived in the eligible zones on September 11th and remains a resident in the eligible zones. An individual need not live in the same unit or building and his or her eligibility is not contingent upon signing a new lease. Pre-September 11th residents will be eligible for their $1,000 grants on presentation of a lease that is valid and active as of the commencement date of the program (and, if necessary, another lease demonstrating their residency within the zone on September 11th). One grant will be made per current housing unit.

In addition, LMDC altered the criteria so that two-year or longer term leases commencing on or after 6/1/01 and before 7/1/02 will be eligible. This change reduces the delay of eligibility of September 11th residents to a maximum of about a year.

8. Family Grant

Two commenters suggested that the family grant be administered per child rather than per family household.

The family grant was a significant addition to the housing assistance program, created in response to comments received during the first comment period. In order to balance the different aspects of the plan within the budgetary framework, LMDC will maintain the payment structure outlined in the proposed Partial Action Plan.

9. Owner and Long-Term Resident Issues

Five comments requested that owners who lease-out their units be eligible for assistance.

The goals of the LMDC program are the creation of a stable residential community and the restoration of the housing market. These goals are most effectively met by awarding neighborhood residents. A stable housing market aids owners who lease-out their units through decreased vacancy rates and increased property values. Awarding the benefit to renters will ultimately assist the owners of those units.

One commenter noted that property owners who have completed mortgage payments may be eligible for less than other residents under the draft plan's criteria.

This comment was received during the first comment period. LMDC decided to raise the grant for existing owners in this category to 50% of maintenance costs and taxes from the previous 30% figure – up to the cap of $6,000 or $12,000.

Two commenters stated that owners should get more money than renters.

A stable residential community requires the attraction and retention of both owners and renters to lower Manhattan; therefore the plan offers them the same benefit levels as current and long-term residents.

10. Grant Amounts

One commenter asserted that the $1,000 grant to September 11th residents is too small.

The one-time $1,000 grant recognizes the extended disruption and disturbance experienced by people who resided in the eligible zones on September 11th and continue to live in the eligible zones. Within the budgetary constraints of the program, LMDC has chosen to devote greater resources to the payments that will be given out over the course of two years to increase and maintain neighborhood stability. This program aims to curtail these effects and improve the quality of life of existing residents through creation and promotion of a stable residential community that will support improvements to the community.

Two commenters asked that residents of Zone 1 receive more money.

Housing units in Zone 1 are eligible to receive up to $12,000 over two-years, double the amount residents of Zone 2 receive. In addition, households with children in Zone 1 are eligible to receive a family grant of $1,500 that is double the amount received by households with children in Zone 2.

One commenter said the maximum grant sizes ($12,000 or $6,000 over two years) are too small.

In order to guarantee the minimum payment ($4,000 or $2,000) to low- and middle-income residents and other provisions of the plan, LMDC chose to set these maximum payments in order to maintain the financial feasibility of the program.

11. Other Comments

Three commenters who are loft tenants inquired as to their eligibility in light of the fact that they do not have traditional leases.

In certain limited cases, LMDC is considering processes under which it may permit proof of residency other than a lease.

Three commenters asked that more money be provided for the improvement of neighborhood amenities.

LMDC agrees that the amenities and institutions of lower Manhattan must be strengthened in order to ensure its continuing livability and attractiveness. The housing assistance plan, in coordination with business assistance programs administered by ESDC and the City of New York's Economic Development Corporation's as well as other enterprises, is the beginning of a coordinated effort to improve life for Lower Manhattan residents. Supporting businesses in the neighborhood and reinforcing the stability of the real estate market will enable LMDC to focus on other community improvements in the future. LMDC's advisory council structure will ensure that future projects correspond to the needs of Lower Manhattan's varied constituencies.

One commenter stated that the comment period was too short.

LMDC held two separate comment periods on the material in the proposed Partial Action Plan. Cumulatively, approximately 1370 written comments were received. LMDC is confident that the public's comments and concerns have been heard and considered.

One owner of apartments leased to corporations was forced to leave the eligible zones and asked if special consideration could be given to such a situation.

This individual will be eligible for the LMDC program pursuant to the same criteria as any other renter of corporate apartments.

Four commenters asked for clarification of language of the plan.

LMDC has made efforts to clarify language throughout the plan.

One commenter stated that money should go to a leaseholder and not to a sub-letter.

In keeping with the goal of creating neighborhood stability, the program requires that the grantee reside in the eligible unit. The goals of the program are most effectively met by providing grants to neighborhood residents, regardless of whether they are the primary or sub-lease holder.

One commenter requested the inclusion of resident managers and superintendents who may not pay rent.

These residents will be eligible for the one-time $1,000 grant and the family grant. They must meet the same criteria as all other residents. Other grants in the program are based on monthly rent or mortgage, maintenance, and tax payments without exception.

One commenter stated opposition to the clause that reads: Units leased or owned for residential purposes by corporations, universities, and other designated institutions may be subject to special criteria.

The revised plan states that special criteria may apply to units leased and owned by corporations, universities, and other designated institutions. Eligibility is for the main subsidy and not for the pre-September 11th $1,000 grant or the family grant. The goals would be to offer an incentive to corporations that may be making location decisions and relief to other downtown institutions.

Four commenters expressed concern about air quality.

At both the local and national levels, taskforces have been established to address the air quality issue in particular. The City of New York has recently established a Lower Manhattan Air Quality Task Force to address residents' concerns on this topic and has appointed a coordinator for these issues. The Federal EPA has established a body to analyze and address these issues and has made announcements on this topic recently.

One commenter urged that the program be run efficiently.

LMDC is currently in the process of planning the administration of this program. The current plan foresees a simple application process, convenient location(s) where residents may submit applications, the ability for residents to mail in applications, and a hotline to respond to questions.

One commenter asked that we clarify the term "commencement date" of the program.

The commencement date has been defined as 7/01/02.

One commenter stated that residents who lost jobs as a result of September 11th should receive more than those still employed.

Residents who lost jobs may be eligible for the Employment Training Assistance Program outlined in the proposed Partial Action Plan. This program will be administered through the ESDC.

Four commenters asked if the grants were taxable.

This question is still under consideration.

12. Proposals, Comments and Questions- Outside Scope of Housing Assistance

Two business owners wrote seeking assistance.

ESDC and City of New York's Economic Development Corporation are the primary provider of business assistance programs to September 11th affected businesses.

Fourteen comments expressed support for rebuilding the World Trade Center.

Two people submitted proposals for the future of the World Trade Center site.

One individual inquired about aid programs available.

These comments and proposals are outside the scope of the housing assistance program.

C. Employment Training Assistance

(Note: During both comment periods combined, approximately twenty individual comments were received on this aspect of the plan.)

Six commenters expressed support for the employment training assistance plan.

No response needed.

Commenters suggested that in addition to businesses, other institutions such as training institutions, schools and not-for-profits south of 14th Street should be eligible. Both Community Board 1 and Spotlight on the Poor suggested this change.

The revised plan includes both for-profit businesses and not-for-profit organizations as eligible recipients of Employment Training Assistance (ETA) grants. While schools and training institutions are not eligible as direct recipients of ETA grants, they may be selected by ETA grant recipients to be training providers.

Three commenters felt the grant sizes were too small.

Employment Training Assistance grants can provide up to 50% of the eligible costs of employee training. Employment training assistance is one aspect of a much larger $700 million plan to assist businesses in Lower Manhattan administered by the Empire State Development Corporation. Businesses that are eligible for Employment Training Assistance grants may also be eligible for other recovery assistance programs.

Councilman Sanders, the Spotlight on the Poor coalition and Good Jobs New York felt the program should be administered via a voucher system rather than through grants given to businesses. The New York Immigration Coalition, the Women's Housing and Economic Development Corporation and The Pratt Institute Center for Community and Environmental Development recommended that this program build upon existing New York City workforce development programs. One commenter asked why a grant going to businesses was included in the Assistance for Individuals plan.

The Employment Training Assistance (ETA) program complements two other training programs available to residents of lower Manhattan. The Workforce Investment Act provides unemployed individuals with vouchers valued at $4,000 for training to prepare them for jobs in occupations where substantial demand exists. The NYS Dept. of Labor administers a separate $25 million federal grant to provide employment services to individuals including job training, job placement, career counseling, resume preparation and access to job banks. The ETA program provides training assistance to businesses so that they can customize skills training for workers to meet the specific needs of their operations. This program will be administered in conjunction with the Empire State Development Corporation's business assistance programs, which are designed to retain and attract business employment in lower Manhattan.

One comment said the plan was too vague. Another questioned how beneficial the plan would be to Lower Manhattan. One comment suggested that preference be given to Lower Manhattan residents.

Businesses must be located south of 14th Street to be eligible for the Employment Training Assistance program, thereby increasing employment opportunities for the residents of lower Manhattan.

Borough President Fields thought a better strategy would be to focus on job creation before focusing on job training.

As part of the World Trade Center recovery and revitalization effort, ESDC administers the Job Creation & Retention (JCR) program and the Small Firm Attraction & Retention Grant (SFARG) program, designed to retain existing businesses and attract new businesses—both small and large—to lower Manhattan. These programs are focused on job retention and creation. The availability of the Employment Training Assistance program will help these businesses increase skilled employment opportunities.

Three commenters asked for information about receiving training assistance.

Empire State Development will actively market the Employment Training Assistance program to business and not-for-profit organizations in lower Manhattan.

One commenter stated that residents who lost jobs as a result of 9/11 should receive more than those still employed.

The Employment Training Assistance program provides matching fund grants to businesses for up to half the eligible cost of worker training, regardless of whether those workers were previously employed or not. However, unemployed workers are eligible for Workforce Investment Act training vouchers valued at $4,000. They may also be eligible for additional job training and placement assistance provided through a $25 million National Emergency Grant administered by the State Dept. of Labor, as noted above.

The NOW Legal Defense and Education Fund requested that the Employment Training Assistance Program “incorporate an emphasis on non-traditional training and employment programs for women.”

The focus of the Employment Training Assistance Program is job retention and creation. ETAP funds will be used to help retain and create as many jobs as possible in lower Manhattan by offering flexible matching fund grants to businesses for worker skills training. Addressing the needs of specific groups of workers is beyond the scope and funding of this program. However, as previously noted the Workforce Investment Act funds are available to address individual worker training needs. The ETAP is intended to complement other training programs which are focused on meeting individual worker needs. This program emphasizes business needs for worker training to ensure that businesses are able to retain and hire workers that may also be receiving individual training assistance.

Many residents of the Chinatown community wrote asking for assistance due to financial difficulties resulting from September 11.

Workers employed by businesses south of Houston Street will receive preference in the administration of this program.
